

MASTER CHOA KOK SUI PRANIC HEALING[®] SYSTEM

Introductory booklet

"Everyone has the innate ability to heal and relieve pain. I was not a born clairvoyant nor have I any special inborn healing power. If I could learn how to heal effectively, then you can also! All that is needed is a certain amount of concentration, determination and most of all the willingness to heal.

In fact, it is easier to learn to heal than learning to ride a bicycle or play the piano." These are encouraging words from the Oriental Master Healer Choa Kok Sui. He is the originator of the MASTER CHOA KOK SUI Pranic Healing[®] & Pranic Psychotherapy[®] Courses, now taught in countries all over the world. He also authored the books "PRANIC HEALING", "ADVANCED PRANIC HEALING" and "PRANIC PSYCHOTHERAPY" now translated to 27 languages worldwide.

imbalances. It requires no drugs, gadgets not even physical contact with the subject. No physical contact is required because the practitioner is working on the bioplasmic or energy body and not directly on the physical body. The bioplasmic body, commonly known as the aura, is what clairvoyants perceive as the luminous energy field that interpenetrates the visible physical body. Pranic Healing[®]'s effectiveness relies on the fact that there is an intimate connection between these two bodies. As we heal the bioplasmic body it creates a new and perfect pattern for the physical counterpart to follow, resulting in a healing. Pranic Healing[®] acts as a powerful catalyst to spark the body's inborn ability to heal itself. However, it is not meant to replace orthodox medicine but rather to complement and enhance it.

healing modalities Chinese Chi Kung, Reiki, Christian "laying on of hands", Tibetan Healing arts and more.

Pranic Healing[®] systematically utilizes the "prana" or life force readily available from the sun, air and ground to heal physical and emotional

How could a person learn to heal effectively in a very short time? In Pranic Healing[®] this is accomplished by giving the student a step by step cookbook approach to healing. Below are some of the fundamental principles of Pranic Healing[®].

Cleansing

It is by removing the diseased energies from the affected energy centers/diseased organs and then energizing them with sufficient life force/prana that healing is accomplished. Energizing without first cleansing is like pouring fresh coffee into a cup that is already filled with stale coffee. This approach is slow and quite wasteful. A healing crisis is most likely to occur if the diseased energy is pushed further into the body by a willful healer. A healing crisis is a process whereby the body attempts to expel stale or diseased energies. Some of symptoms are vomiting, fever, diarrhea, fatigue and heavy sweating.

Energizing

Most of us know of some healer or health practitioner who has become drained by performing a healing or counseling session. Most healers make the mistake of using the “battery” approach by transmitting their own life force energy to their subject. When they get drained they have to take a retreat or a recharging time to replenish their energies. In Pranic Healing® we utilize the “water pump” approach. All of us are swimming in an ocean of energies. By knowing how to properly pump the energies to our bodies and then systematically projecting them to the subject, we are able to sufficiently energize the subject without draining our own supply of life force.

Decontamination

Most healers get sick either because their life force gets drained or they are contaminated by their subjects’ diseased energies. Absorption of diseased energies occurs not only on the physical level but also on the etheric, astral, mental and spiritual levels.

Decontamination also involves the purification of the healing space for the benefit of the healer and future clients. By diligently observing this comprehensive “Healing Hygiene”, a healer is assured many years of good health while providing service to his/her clients.

Systemic Application of Energy on the Major & Minor Chakras

“Chakras” is a Sanskrit term for “wheels”. Clairvoyants perceive chakras as “spinning wheels of light”. They act as energy power stations to enable your energy body or aura to absorb and process energy from our surrounding. After extensive research with the help of high level clairvoyants as well as medical professionals, Master Choa has been able to synthesize a list of different ailments and the corresponding energy centers that affect them. Each ailment has a unique group of chakras that are affected. So by properly applying the correct technique to the affected chakras, you can expect to produce results consistently.

Advanced Pranic Healing®

White prana from the environment is absorbed by the energy body and then digested into different color energies to be utilized by the different organs. By using intention and visualization skills you can project color energies to the subject to produce more effective healing results. Examples of this would be using red prana on asthma subjects to help dilate their constricted air tubes and the use of blue prana to cool off a subject with a fever. More severe ailments like AIDS and cancer respond better to more potent color frequencies like violet and electric violet. Using color prana is like going to a specialist instead of a general practitioner.

In Ancient times, Pranic Healing could only be practiced by an elite few. My job was to develop a very effective healing system, which ordinary people could learn in just a short period. Anybody can practice pranic healing now. The knowledge of being able to deal with simple ailments is quite empowering.

is used to heal emotional and psychological problems. When patients talk to their counselors, it is actually a process of externalizing the negative emotional energies stored in their astral and mental bodies. Negative emotions and traumatic experiences are essentially negative thoughts and emotional energies lodged on to the aura and the specific energy centers of the subject. These energies are often difficult to release, requiring months or even years of traditional psychotherapy. By using advanced energetic extraction techniques on the affected chakras, childhood emotional traumas, phobias, compulsions and addictions can be alleviated in a very short time. This is all done without the recipient even having to reveal any potentially embarrassing personal information.

It is not uncommon that in just the first session the subject experiences an unusual sense of peace and serenity, like a big weight has been lifted from their shoulders. When coupled with traditional therapies and techniques, Pranic Psychotherapy® offers you the ability to quickly and safely release these crippling energetic patterns.

Pranic Healing®, Advanced Pranic Healing® & Pranic Psychotherapy® enable you to heal confidently and consistently in the shortest amount of learning time possible. However, they are not meant to replace orthodox medicine rather to complement and enhance them. Master Choa Kok Sui says, "With so much pain and suffering around us it is my goal to make paranormal healing quite normal and commonplace in the near future."
